CHAPTER I

Introduction

Animation is one of the most powerful forms of storytelling, capable of bringing imagination to life through movement, color, and emotion. It allows audiences to connect with stories on a deeper level, making them feel part of the world. The Moonstone is a short animated story set in a once peaceful village that has fallen under a dark curse. It follows the brave journey of Anya, a determined young girl, and her childhood friend Kaito as they embark deep into a mysterious forest to find the legendary Moonstone, a magical gem that can restore life and hope to their land.

The Moonstone captures not only the adventure but also the emotions of courage, friendship, and determination. Every scene from the dark forest, stormy nights, to the glowing light of the Moonstone was carefully prepared to show how hope can shine even in the darkest times.

Even though we worked with limited tools and resources, this project shows that good stories do not always need expensive technology or big productions. Creativity, teamwork, and passion are enough to make something meaningful. Our goal was to show that animation can be fun and entertaining while also teaching valuable lessons.

Through making The Moonstone, we improved our skills in animation, storytelling, project management, and teamwork. This project helped us grow as creators, and we hope it will inspire others to use animation to share their own stories and ideas.

COLLEGE OF INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY EDUCATION

Background of the Study

In a world where animation is becoming a powerful tool for storytelling, "The Moonstone" is our capstone project that aims to highlight emotional depth and meaningful lessons through a short animated film. The story follows Anya, a brave young girl who embarks on a journey to find the magical Moonstone to lift the curse that has ruined her village. Accompanied by her friend Kaito, they face challenges, encounter mystical creatures.

As animation students, we aim to create a story that is more than just entertainment. "The Moonstone" reflects themes of friendship, bravery, sacrifice, and selflessness. The project helps us improve our animation skills and bring the opportunity to deliver a meaningful message to audiences of all ages.

Statement of the Problem

In the world of "The Moonstone," how can Anya and Kaito, with the help of their pure hearts and determination, use their exploration to find the Moonstone to not only lift the curse on their village but also create an emotional and engaging animated experience that explores themes of bravery, selflessness, and hope? We want to show how a short animation like this can make people feel something real, even with limited tools.

PHINMA UNIVERSITY OF ILOILO
COLLEGE OF INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY EDUCATION

This problem statement covers the following key points

- Anya and Kaito's journey to lift the curse on their village.
- Facing challenges like the Guardian Wolf and the Shadow Weaver.
- Defeating the Shadow Weaver and lifted the village curse.
- Using animation to bring out these moments in a way that connects with the audience.

Objectives of the Study

The objective of "The Moonstone" is to showcase the power of animation in storytelling with stylized animation techniques to tell the story of Anya's journey to lift the curse from her village. The specific objectives include

1. To create a short animated story that shows themes of bravery, trust, and determination.
2. To tell a meaningful story that connects with people emotionally, even with simple tools.
3. Improve our skills in animation, storytelling, and teamwork through this project.
4. Explore how animation can be used to deliver life lessons in a creative and relatable way.

PHINMA UNIVERSITY OF ILOILO

Significance of the Study

In our capstone project, The Moonstone, we aim to use animation to convey powerful lessons about bravery, selflessness, and the importance of helping others. Here's why our study matters

1. Showcasing the use of animation techniques- Bringing a fantasy story to life, highlighting the journey of Anya as she faces challenges to lift a curse on her village.
2. Storytelling Innovation- A captivating story that combines adventure, fantasy, and personal growth, striking a balance between magical elements and realistic themes.
3. Explore the impact of animation on audience engagement- Emphasizing how animation can evoke emotions, build worlds, and enhance the narrative. Engage the audience with powerful messages about friendship, courage, and sacrifice.
4. Contribute to the art of animation- Creating an original story that combines fantasy elements with an stylized animation style that resonates with a broad audience.

Scope and Limitation

This capstone project, titled "The Moonstone," is an animated short film that tells the story of Anya and Kaito as they journey to lift the curse on their village. The study defines its primary objectives and acknowledges the factors that may shape its final outcomes.

Scope

- Storytelling and Character Development- An animated short that tells a fantasy adventure story, aimed at delivering a fascinating narrative.
- Theme Exploration- "The Moonstone" focusing on creating an animated short film that highlights themes of courage, friendship, and selflessness, focusing on the protagonist's journey and the magical element of the Moonstone.
- Team Collaboration- Each member contributes to animation, coloring, backgrounds, and documentation to complete the short story.
- Industry Significance- The project aims to captivate viewers with its emotional story and visual charm, appealing to both younger and older audiences.

Limitations

- Limited Equipment- Only one member has a Computer suitable for animation, software like Krita often crashes, and causing production delays.
- Financial Constraints- Financial limitations prevent the group from upgrading devices or buying animation equipment, which affects efficiency and quality.

PHINMA UNIVERSITY OF ILOILO
COLLEGE OF INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY EDUCATION

- Limited Feedback Sources- The only feedback regularly received is from the teacher, so reactions from a larger audience are not yet included.
- Artistic Subjectivity- Different audience members may interpret the story and animation style in their own way, which might lead to mixed feedback.
- Technology and Platform Dependencies- The success of the animation depends on the reliability of "Krita" and the available devices, which have shown issues that are beyond the team's control.

The "The Moonstone" capstone project defines its scope by focusing on the creation of an animated short film, with a focus on storytelling, character design, and audience attention. It acknowledges limitations such as hardware and financial constraints, as well as the dependence on technology, which could affect the overall presentation and audience reach.

Review Related Literature

The Moonstone takes inspiration from folktales that show the importance of courage, community, and the supernatural in storytelling. One important source is Gaudencio V. Aquino, Bonifacio N. Cristobal, and Delfin Fresnosa's The Legend of the Stone Horse of Olo-Olo, featured in Philippine Folktales (©1969; Alemar Phoenix). This story tells of a white stone shaped like a horse that protects a town in the Ilocos region from raiders. A mysterious white horseman appears to help the villagers, bringing a magical and heroic element to the tale.

In The Moonstone, Anya's journey is similar, she must protect her village from an ancient curse with the help of strange and mystical forces. Like the villagers of Olo-Olo, she faces danger with bravery and determination. Both stories combine magic, heroism, and the defense of a community, showing how folklore can inspire strong and selfless characters.

Another inspiration is "The Legend of the Callao Cave and of Creation", a myth from Cagayan Valley. It tells how the gods Bathala, Captan, and Maguayen worked together but failed sometimes to create the first humans and animals. Captan molded people from different kinds of clay, producing races of various colors, until finally creating the brown-skinned ancestors of Filipinos. Maguayen, wanting life in his own domain, created animals for the sea, rivers, and forests. The story mixes magical creation with a real location, Callao Cave, making the place itself part of the myth.

COLLEGE OF INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY EDUCATION

This is similar to The Moonstone, where the pendant's magic is deeply connected to the land and its people. Just as the Callao Cave legend explains the origins of life through divine craftsmanship, The Moonstone connects Anya's mission to the heritage and survival of her village, blending myth with a real-world setting. Both show how the natural world and human destiny can be shaped by supernatural forces.

The Moonstone also takes influence from Jules Verne's "Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea". It's a science fiction adventure about exploration, mystery, and human resilience. The story follows Professor Aronnax, his assistant Conseil, and the harpooner Ned Land as they are taken aboard Captain Nemo's submarine, the Nautilus. On the ocean's surface, they witness breathtaking wonders, encounter strange sea creatures, and face dangers that test their courage and adaptability.

Like "Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea," The Moonstone features a journey into the unknown where the protagonist must rely on bravery and resourcefulness. Both stories place characters in extraordinary environments, and the cursed magical realm in The Moonstone, where survival depends on quick thinking and inner strength. The element of discovery in the story parallels Anya's mission to uncover the secrets of the Moonstone, showing how facing the unfamiliar can lead to growth, understanding, and the triumph of determination over fear.

COLLEGE OF INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY EDUCATION

"The Intelligent Maiden" is a traditional folktale that teaches the value of cleverness and quick thinking in overcoming life's challenges. The story follows Marcela, a young woman who is given a series of impossible tasks by the king. Using her intelligence, resourcefulness, and presence of mind, she solves each problem, eventually winning the king's favor and marrying into royalty. This tale highlights how mental sharpness and problem-solving skills can lead to success even in difficult situations.

"The Intelligent Maiden" and The Moonstone feature strong female leads who overcome great challenges, but they highlight different forms of strength. "The Intelligent Maiden" focuses on wit and clever thinking, as Marcela uses her intelligence to solve impossible tasks and succeed, while "The Moonstone" highlights courage, determination, and selflessness, as Anya braves dangerous journeys and makes sacrifices to lift a curse from her village. Together, these stories show that true strength can come in many forms, through the mind's cleverness or the heart's bravery, and that determination, whether mental or physical, can lead to victory over even the greatest obstacles.

Chapter III

Methodology

This study focuses on the development and production of an animated short film, "The Moonstone," it focuses on the creative and technical aspects of animation production. It explores the animation workflow, challenges encountered, and solutions applied by the team throughout the creative process. This study documents the process in terms of visual storytelling, animation techniques, and software utilization while considering team collaboration and project management.

Research Design

This research adopts a qualitative approach, it focuses on experiences, teamwork, and the creative process of making the animated short film The Moonstone. Instead of numbers or data, it highlights emotions, storytelling, and how the animation was made from start to finish. This approach not only enhances our understanding of animation techniques but also provides insights into the problem solving strategies used in real world animation projects.

COLLEGE OF INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY EDUCATION

Data Analysis

To evaluate the quality of the animation, the team conducts regular discussions to identify technical and artistic improvements. Feedback sessions with the teacher help refine the animation, while comparisons with similar animated works provide a benchmark for industry standards. The feedback and self-reflections are reviewed to identify recurring patterns in animation challenges and improvements. Key observations are documented and analyzed to track progress and refine the final output. The final animation is assessed by comparing its quality to established industry standards.

Collection Methods

The study uses visual documentation, teacher feedback, self-reflection, and observation to collect data.

1. Storyboarding- Initial sketches and storyboards help structure the animation's flow and ensure narrative coherence.
2. Teacher Feedback- Regular feedback sessions with the teacher and peers help identify areas for improvement in animation techniques and storytelling.
3. Comparative Analysis- Reviewing and analyzing similar animations help refine artistic and technical aspects to meet industry standards.

PHINMA UNIVERSITY OF ILOILO
COLLEGE OF INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY EDUCATION

Tools for Analysis

1. Animation Software- We used Krita for animating each scene, including character movements. Krita enables frame by frame animation, helping refine timing, motion, and overall quality.
2. Editing Software- We used Capcut for sequencing scenes, applying transitions, adding sound effects, and making final adjustments to improve the flow and impact of the animation.

This study uses teacher feedback, group discussions, and references from short animations to check the quality of our work. Teacher's advice helps us improve our animation and storytelling. Group discussions help us find mistakes and share ideas. We also watch animated films on YouTube to learn techniques and apply them to our own project.

Selection process of Digital Tool

1. Krita- Chosen as the primary animation software due to its accessibility and essential animation features, despite occasional software crashes.
2. CapCut- Used for video editing because of its user friendly interface and capabilities.
3. Pen Tablet- Used for accurate and fluid digital drawing, ensuring smoother animation.
4. Financial Considerations- The selection of these tools was planned by the team's budget constraints while maintaining an efficient digital workflow.

PHINMA UNIVERSITY OF ILOILO
COLLEGE OF INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY EDUCATION

We chose our tools based on what was available and useful. Krita was used for animation, even though it sometimes crashes. CapCut was chosen for editing because it's easy to use and works well. A pen tablet was needed for smooth and accurate drawing. Our choices were guided by our budget and the need for smooth workflow.

Staging and Layout Themes and Design of the Scenes:

In "The Moonstone" the staging and composition choices are important in the storytelling and visuals of the animation.

PHINMA UNIVERSITY OF ILOILO
COLLEGE OF INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY EDUCATION

1. Staging

The scenes in The Moonstone are arranged so the audience can easily understand what is happening. The angles and lighting help show the important parts of the story, like Anya's bravery and the moment she finds the Moonstone.

2. Composition

The frames are made to look clear and balanced. The backgrounds, colors, and placement of the characters help show the difference between the light and dark parts of the story.

3. Timing and Rhythm

The movements in the animation match the mood of the story. Slow scenes are used for emotional moments, while faster actions are used during exciting parts, like the fight with the Shadow Weaver. This keeps the story interesting to watch.

4. Exaggeration

Since the animation has no dialogue, the characters' movements show their feelings clearly. This helps the audience understand emotions like fear, courage, and joy through action alone.

5. Solid Drawing

The characters and backgrounds are drawn neatly and consistently. Each movement looks smooth and natural, showing effort in keeping the drawings clean.

6. Appeal

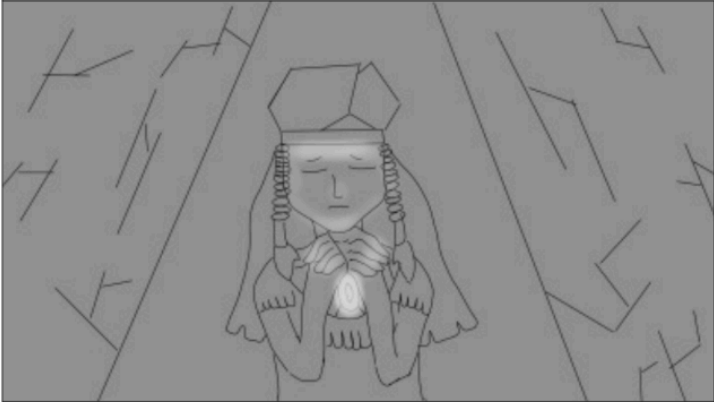

The art style of The Moonstone is simple. The soft colors, detailed backgrounds, and characters make the animation pleasant to watch and full of emotion.

CHAPTER V

Conclusion

In conclusion, "The Moonstone" has been a meaningful and creative capstone project that allowed us to explore the process of storytelling through animation. From planning the concept, creating the story and script, designing the characters, and animating the scenes, every step taught us the importance of teamwork, creativity, and patience. The project showed that even with simple tools and limited resources, a strong message and story can still touch people's hearts. Our dedication to bringing "The Moonstone" to life reflects our passion for animation and the lessons we learned throughout the journey.

Summary

"The Moonstone" is a short animated story that tells the journey of Anya and Kaito as they search for the Moonstone to lift the curse on their village. This capstone project involved planning from storyboarding and designing the characters to creating backgrounds, effects, and music that matched the mood of each scene. Through careful use of staging, timing, and rhythm, the animation creates emotions without the need for dialogue. The editing and final touches enhanced the flow and made the story more entertaining.

Overall, "The Moonstone" was not only a creative achievement but also a valuable learning experience for us. It helped us improve our skills in animation, storytelling, and teamwork, and reminded us that courage, friendship, and hope can make even the simplest story amazing.
